DEPTH OF WATER IN THE HARBOR

Soundings Taken Yesterday Show a Very Serious State of Things.

Soundings taken yesterday by Colonel G. Percy Hawes, manager of the coal elevator of S. H. Hawes & Company, show the Richmond harbor to be in a much more serious condition that is generally supposed, and developed the astonishing fact that at low tide there is only a depth of one foot of water in portions of the old channel.

The soundings of Colonel Hawes were all taken at low water. To get the depth at high tide, three feet should be added to the figures given. The sounding line was dropped along the wharves, the route now pursued by vessels, and the result was as follows:

ing line was dropped along the wharves, the route now pursued by vessels, and the result was as follows:

At the lockgate proper, 13 feet; twenty-five feet below 4 feet.

S. 11. Hawes & Company's wharf, 12 feet for two-thirds of the distance, and 11 feet 8 inches, and 11 feet 6 inches for the other third.

W. S. Daniol & Company's wharf, 80 or 50 feet in length, 11 feet at the upper end, and 9 feet 6 inches at the lower end. Old Dominion wharf, upper end, 11 feet; 11 to 13 along the dock.

From the outer rall of an Old Dominion steamer lying at the dock for twenty feet the water shoals rapidly until in the middle of the old channel at low tide it reaches 1 foot.

The above shows that the harbor has fallen and the great importance of beginning the work of dredging.

Mr. J. Clement Shafer, who has the government contract, will be ready in about two weeks, and the city dredge will resume as soon as the Board of Aldermen makes the appropriation in the

PARK CONCERTS

Grounds and Buildings Committee Has Not Made Its Schedule.

It is in the province of the Grounds and Buildings Committee to make out the schedule for the free summer concerts, as provided for in the budget. This committee, also, lets out the contract, and while no action has yet been taken in the matter, it is practically understood that the contract will go to Professor

It is probable that when the schedule is made up for the year, Reservoir Park will be omitted because of the fact that there will be so many other attractions there, and because the band may be of more service in the city. The residents of the southeast section of the city will ask that a concert be given at Riverside Park, at the extreme south end of Pine Street, once a week.

Delaware Has Senators, but May Not Have a Legislature.

(By Associated Press.)

DOYER, DEIL, March 5.—The status of the Delaware Legislature is under consideration by the lucas of the State courts, who will decide the constitutionality of the act of the minority in adjourning the Assombly for more than one day. The Constitution does not anthorize a minority to adjourne either branch of the Assembly, except from day to day. The Legislature adjourned Monday after the election of two United States Senators to meet the following day. On Tuesday, however, a majority of the members went to Washington to see the new Senators were present at Tuesjay's session, Representative Holcomb adjourned the House until to-day.

MR. LOWENBERG TALKS

Director General Gives Some New Information About the Plans and Purposes of the Jamestown Exposition Company.

Mr. D. Lowenberg, of Norfolk, the director-general of the great exposition to o given in 1907 in colobration of the first permanent English settlement upor

Mr. Lowenberg is said to be the riches man in Norfolk. However that may be, he has certainly made a success as a ousiness man. He took hold of the immense task assigned him with some little reluctance, but since he has tackled he job he has become as enthusiastic have visited the various expositions held in this country. 'I have had commu nication with some or those who were at the head of these enterprises, and have, I hope, gained some very valuable information," said the great Norfolk mor chant to a Times-Dispatch man. "In the first place, I have learned this: That first place, I have learned this: That when expositions are held the concerns that give them should own the ground. This is just what the Jamestown Exposition Company has proceeded to do—to acquire the land. We will erect our buildings and make improvements that will be permanent. Property will be enhanced in value, the State will get more taxes and the stockholders in the company will reap a reward."

value, the State will get more taxes and the stockholders in the company will reap a reward."

A PRACTICAL VIEW.

Warming up to his subject and growing more enthusiastic, Mr., Lowenberg said:
"Take the World's Fair at Chicago; take the one lately held at Charleston, S. C.; take any one you may pleake, these expositions were held, or given, upon leased ground. When the shows were over the buildings were destroyed, and the vast amounts of money spent in making what was almost a city was lost, in so far as it would serve to bring permanent results was concerned. That is just what we are guarding against and what we are not going to do. Take Virginia's building to be erected at St. Louis. When the exposition is over it will have to be sold tor just what it will bring for material to be moved away. If it could remain there and Virginia buy the lot, don't you see what valuable property the State might have? Murphy's Hotel, if sole to be moved away, would not sell for $5,000, but the hotel would sell with the site for—well, as a rough-hand guess, for half a million dollars."

Mr. Lowenberg is something of a philosopher, and can say a few things that would serve well in a supplement to Ben Franklin's "Poor Richard's" almanae.

WOULD BENEFIT ALL.

"They tell us that only the hotels, the bar-rooms, the transportation companies and some few others will reap the benefits of this exposition," said he, "I do not agree with this view.

"But what does it matter who gets the money first? It will pass down the line and all get a chance to use it."

"It seems to The rather remarkable," continued Mr. Lowenberg, "that we have to come here and ask the Legislature to make an appropriation. It ought to be made without the asking. People should stop to consider what this event means. It means much to this entire State and Richmond and Petershurg, and the other cities, and t

WILMINGTON, DEL., March 5.—Five of the Supreme Court judges met here to-day to consider the legality of the minor ity of the Deleware Legislature in adjourning the session of the House from Tuesday until to-day. Their decision, announced to-night, was that as the State Constitution gives a minority the right only to adjourn the Assembly from day to day, there was no adjournment of the House on Tuesday, the Legislature technically remaining in session until legally adjourned to-day by the majority.

WANTS CONFERENCE

Minstrels Last Night.

The veteran minstrel George Primrose, with Lew Dockstader, and their company appeared at the Academy last night before an audience that very nearly filled the house. The performance was an excellent one in every respect, and it did one good to witness it. First, there was George Primrose, that exponent of the art of Terpsichore, whose nimble legatell no tale of his age. His years seem to sit but lightly upon him, and were his inclination not otherwise, it might be a long time yet before his "dancing days are o'er." Dancing with him is an art, and every musele of his body has been trained to make "every move a picture." His palmy days are over now, but he has gracefully grown old in the business, making a name that will live as long as there is a memory of minstrelsy. Minstrels Last Night.

Lew Dockstader contributed no greater share in the evening's entertain and Milton D. Purdy, Minnesota, assisment, neither in quality nor in quantity, greater share in the evening's entertain-meat, neither in quality nor in quantity, than did Neil O'Brien. Dockstader was clever, as he always is, but if the laughs could be measured up, O'Brien would have more to his credit.

The vocal work was very good, and the closing act was something of a novelty, and was very cleve.

ON THE RACE QUESTION

(By Associated Press.)

MR. WICKHAM INQUIRES.

Mr. Traylor did some very plain talking and during his remarks he told of one company that had left Virginia and intimated that others might go.

Mr. Wickham asked him if any law could be passed to prevent a person in this State from going to New York, Baltimore or some other city and buying insurance.

and he answered with a great big emphatic "no." The object of the question was apparent. Mr. Wickham is a lawyer and a most patriotic Virginian. He wants the State to get taxes that might be lost this urance companies are driven out of Virginia, and could still do business here. The committee simply heard arguments and arose at 10 o'clock. Lee Camp will take a large delegation. This fine body of weterans are even anxious to take all prizes for appearances in the parade. The camp will take the Howitzer Battery as escort, and the cannoneers are maling great preparations for the trip.

But the Blues also want to go. The entire battallon is now seriously considering the matter, and a committee has been appointed to ascertain what the cost will be. If the Blues and Howitzers go, as well as the large company of veterans and Bons of Veterans, Virginia will make a showing that will bring forth the loudest plaudits from the gathered tens of thousands of the Crescent City.

It is more than likely that the Souther's Railway will be the route of most.

Mr. Eppa Hunton, Jr., a lawyer whom the members of the Legislature always delight in listening to, for he always has something to say that contains food for thought, spoke for the Life Insurince Company of Virginia and Luo South Atlantic Life Insurance Company.

Mr. William H. Sands, who was loaded with figures and facts, talked for certain foreign insurance companies; Mr. D. R.
Midyette appeared for the Fidelity Mutual of Philadelphia; Mr. Cunningham
Hall for the Underwriters of Virginia;
Mr. N. D. Sills for the Sun Life, and Mr.
Robert Lee Traylor for the London and Liverpool and Globe.

The sum and substance of the arguments advanced by the insurance people was that the bill which has passed the House placed too great a burden upon them. They, or at least some of them, want to get relief from local taxation,
and they want the tax upon their gross receipts to be reduced from 11-2 per cent.
